Nixon then presented each Scout with a tie bar with his name on it.

Residents Urge Improvements To Unpaved Road

Residents along 46th St. immediately south of Ottagan St. in Overisel Township of Allegan County, upset by the conditions of the unpaved road in front of their homes, were expected to attend the township meeting Tuesday on the matter.

A spokesman for the ten families living on the road said they planned to be represented at the meeting. He said they had attended previous township meetings asking that the road be improved.

Last month, they claim, the road was closed for three weeks when thawing temperatures and rains turned portions of the road into mud and made it impassable. County road crews graded the bad spots and added fill to make temporary repairs and the road was reopened.

The spokesman said the unpaved road that connects Ottagan St. with the paved portion of 46th St. provides a connection between Overisel and a mobile home park along Ottagan.

Residents also cited increased use of the road by patrons of the nearby Winding Creek Golf Course.

The spokesman said they were approaching the township board concerning improvements in the road which the county road commission says is a decision of the township board.

Rotary Club Endorses Proposed Skills Center

Donald Gebraad, a member of the Ottawa Area Intermediate School District, and Bob Doyle of Donnelly Mirrors spoke to members of the Holland Rotary Club Thursday and discussed the need for an area Vocational-Technical Training Institute. A film strip, "Earning By Learning," was shown and further explanations and discussions were offered by both Doyle and Gebraad.

Doyle said that the nearest skills centers are located either in Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo or Muskegon, but no adequate training facilities are offered in the immediate Ottawa County area.

Doyle explained that about 2½ million students leave formal education institutions each year. About 750,000 are high school drop-outs, another 850,000 graduate from high school with little or no specialized training and another 850,000 are college drop-outs with inadequate skills.

In the Holland area, the two high schools offer a total of four skills courses. Holland High teaches electronics and machine shop and West Ottawa offers building trades and auto mechanics courses. The skills center would be able to offer a total of 34 or more skills and trade courses to 11th and 12th graders from all the area high schools.

Thirteen schools would be offered the services of the Vo-Tech Center which will be located at U.S. 31 and Port Sheldon Road, about ten miles north of Holland.

Gebraad said the cost of equipment, facilities and operation would be $4,890,000 or an annual millage rate of 1.5 mills per $1,000 of equalized valuation. Gebraad said that there would also be a possibility that federal and state funding of equipment and facilities could be available up to 50 per cent which could reduce the millage requested.

Just prior to the close of Thursday's meeting, the Rotary Club membership unanimously endorsed the millage vote on March 8, without a single voice of dissent from the members present.

'Aviation' Is A Favorite Student Class

By Ann Hungerford

A class so exciting more than 400 students voluntarily signed up for it?

It's not only possible, it happened at West Ottawa Middle School recently but the computer was programmed to randomly select only 23 eager and lucky enrollees for a three-week aviation class.

Requested by West Ottawa to teach their hoped for aviation course, John Brower, flight instructor and owner of Burgess Aviation, volunteered his time, his skill, and his plane to give teaching a try.

Highlight for the students, most of whom have never flown, has been a ride in a twin engine Navajo last Friday afternoon. Since the plane seats eight persons, Brower made several trips to accommodate all of his excited students, flying them over Port Sheldon, Lake Macatawa, Lake Michigan, over their Middle School and back to the Park Township Airport where he is manager.

Brower will take his prospective aviators to Muskegon Airport soon to visit the weather bureau, and has scheduled several speakers on all aspects of aviation including remote control model airplanes.

The Middle School's selected activities program relies in several instances upon community volunteers, assisted at times by the general teaching staff. For the aviation course Jerry Foltice, a math teacher, assisted wherever possible. The three-week selected activities, usually numbering 40 to 50, are scheduled the final period of the day and broaden the usual school curriculum.

Brower noted that if asked he would "certainly like to teach aviation again." With 400 eager students waiting in the wings, there's little doubt he'll be asked.

Cablevision Brings Wide Possibilities

By Paul Van Kolken

Push button shopping from home, fire detection, baby sitting, regional programming, meter reading — all are possible with use of a community antenna television (CATV) system.

Advanced cable television or cablevision systems have the potential for an almost unlimited variety of two-way communications for education, emergencies and municipal uses.

Use of the system would be limited by the sophistication of the electronic equipment installed by the cablevision firm operating in the locality.

In Holland, cablevision firms applying for a license propose that the initial uses of the service be confined to educational, public service, municipal and commercially produced programs.

The other services could be added as required.

Four companies are seeking a license to operate in the city and a committee of Council and the Board of Public Works is studying the proposals. Recommendations are to be made to the council and BPW, perhaps by the first of March.

The winning cable firm would be allowed to operate within the city limits. Surrounding townships and municipalities would have to develop their own policies regarding cablevision and grant a license.

Recently the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) opened the top 100 broadcast markets for cablevision. Holland is included in the 37th market of Kalamazoo - Grand Rapids - Battle Creek.

Rules governing cablevision systems in the top 100 markets require at least one dedicated channel for educational uses, one for local government and one for non-commercial public access.

Also required is the two-way capacity for return communications by viewers on at least a non-voice basis. It is the two-way capacity that opens the uses of cablevision to an almost unlimited scope.

Such services, not expected at the outset of cablevision in Holland, would include remote shopping, electronic delivery of mail and newspapers, fire and burglar alarm monitoring, transportation scheduled, ticket sales, banking services, electronic voting, library references, dial-up video and audio libraries and employment, health care, housing, welfare and other social service information.

Other proposed uses are for meter readings, credit checks, facsimile services, industrial security, pollution monitoring, fingerprint and photograph identification, surveillance of public areas and a host of educational programs.

As cablevision systems expand across the country a cable network could be formed, linking the various systems for simultaneous programming.

One firm bidding for the license in Holland envisions a Midwest cable network that could beam Tulip Time parades and events from Holland to other Midwest locations. Likewise any number of programs originated in other parts of the Midwest could be made available to viewers in Holland.

The concept could be expanded nationwide by use of satellites.

The public information channel could provide a convenient voice into the home to supply information on such things as employment, legal rights, transportation, drug addiction, health, welfare, local events, and a guide to municipal services to explain such things as which agency handles housing code violations and how to contact them and what to expect after contact is made.

Educational channels would be used to interconnect classrooms within a school or link schools and colleges in the local service area or connect them to other schools in the state or nation.

The two-way response would allow students to attend school while confined at home and converse with the instructor.

According to one source, cablevision had its beginning in 1949 at Astoria, Oregon where residents using house-top antennas were unable to bring in signals from the distant Portland stations.

A master antenna was erected at a location that would receive the Portland signals and a network of cables was strung through the city from utility poles.

Electronic equipment was installed to amplify the Portland signals and to correct them and send the signals over the cable network in the city.

Residents had their television sets connected to the trunkline cables by use of a small cable. The system eliminated use of the rooftop antennas.

In Holland, as in other communities, use of the cablevision system is not required. Persons using the service will pay an installation charge to bring the cable into the home and a monthly rental fee. In addition to receiving the television channels available on the cable system, FM broadcasts will be available, usually at an additional charge.

The cablevision firm is responsible for installation of the system, including master antenna, electronic equipment, studios and the miles of transmission cable. The firm also is responsible for maintaining the system.

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENED

Why is that the nice, sensible guys you elected to Congress
seem to go off the deep end
shortly after they get to Babylon on the Potomac? They often take on an aura of royalty, tell you how to run your affairs and propose with blithe unconcern
new ways to spend tens of billions of your tax dollars.

It is reported that when new members of the House of Representatives go to Washington
they find that suddenly they are
"... wrapped in a veritable cocoon of privileges and prerequisites — at taxpayers' expense..." To make sure a fledgling Congressman doesn't overlook anything, there is a new 204-page "Congressional Handbook" outlining all of the goodies provided for his creature comforts and working convenience.

In the first place, he has a $157,092 a year allowance to hire a 16-member staff to help him run his office in Washington and in his home district. An employment service to find these people is provided free of charge. Provisions are made for every kind of personal service, from legal help to shoe shining, at no cost. Complete facilities and expert assistance
are available within instant reach to help with communications to the folks back home —
radio scripts, movies, slides,
speeches — anything at all.

The Congressman's salary,
not to be sneezed at, is $42,500
a year and to assure that he stays around to a ripe old age, 31 different health plans are available as well as the complete medical services of Walter Reed Army Hospital and Bethesda Naval Hospital.

It's little wonder that that rice fellow from down the block that you sent to Congress fought so hard and valiantly to get the job representing you and changed
so much after he went to Washington. It takes a lot to support a Congressman in the manner to which he becomes accustomed, and it's hard to believe that most of the time
we get our money's worth.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, March 4
This is God's World
Genesis 1:1, 26, 31
By C. P. Dame

If everyone in this world
would believe the topic of this lesson, that this is God's world and show it by their lives, this world would not be in the mess in which it is now. God created and owns and planned man on this earth to manage it for Him.

1. God created man. Not all believe this, but the Bible teaches it plainly. The three parts of the lesson text tell about God's activities. The phrase, "In the beginning," found also in John 1:1-3 and in Hebrews 1:10, points backward. God created the heaven and the earth. Back of this universe is a personal Creator, however, some think that the earth is an accident.

Before God created, He thought, God the thinker became God the doer. Today an artist has an idea and uses paint and brush for the portrait.
God thought and created out of nothing through the spoken word. God also made a choice.

In II Timothy 1:9 and in Titus
1:2 we read that God promised eternal life "before the world began" and in I Peter 1:20 it is said that the atoning death of Christ was "foreordained before the foundation of the world."

After creating the world God
created man in His own image.
Note the words, "Let us" and in Isaiah 6:8, "Also, I heard
the voice of the Lord saying,
'Whom shall I send and who will go for us?'" — both passages refer to the Trinity.
God is triune which means that love is of God and that fellowship existed, for the Father and Son and Holy Spirit communicated. God gave man a will, ability to think and reason, to fellowship with Him and in a limited way have creativity, and dominion over His creation and to creatively manage everything which He had made.

II. God owns the world and sustains it. "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof;
the world and they that dwell therein." We are tenants and we have a responsibility to God, the owner. Today pollution is a popular subject. Man has misused nature, exploited God's creation and dishonored the Creator. The more we recognize God, the more we will show
regard for His world and admire its beauty and orderliness.

Psalms 103 and 104 were written by the same author. The author praises God for His manifold works which He has made. Today many people speak of the power of nature.
The psalmist writes about the wisdom and power and concern of God. We are making more and more discoveries regarding the variety of the creatures and plants, the great diversity and order that prevails. People who believe in God's revelation not only praise Him for His creation, but also for the redemption which He has wrought through Jesus Christ. We owe Him
worship and service.

Hamilton Records 16th Win of Season

WYOMING — Hamilton's basketball team registered its 16th win in 19 games by downing the Wyoming Lee Rebels, 62-57
here Tuesday evening.

The final score is misleading,
as the Hawkeyes of Coach Wayne Tanis led comfortably all the way. At the end of the first period it was 17-12, at the half, 37-26 and at the end of three quarters, 52-40.

Tanis went to his bench, as the Hawkeyes increased their lead to 18 points, 50-42 with six minutes left in the contest.

"Cal Lubbers and Denny Ellens did a good job for us," insisted Tanis. "Lubbers had one of his best scoring nights of the season with 14 points and Ellens came off the bench again
to do a good job."

The O-K Blue Division's leading scorer Warren Berens fired in 19 points to lead Hamilton in that department. Brad Brink followed Lubbers with nine counters. Ron Kettner led the Rebels with 22 markers.

Earl Slotman and Tom Boerigter paced the Hawkeyes in rebounding with 15 and 12 caroms
in that order.

Mark Naber threw in 20 points and Greg Deters added 14, as the Little Hawkeyes kept pace

with the varsity by notching their 16th victory with a 60-49
triumph over Lee.

Hamilton will close its regular season Friday at Kellogg-ville.

ABWA Is Shown Film on Proposed Vocational Center

The American Business
Women's Association held its
"Citizenship Month" dinner
meeting at the American Legion Country Club on Tuesday.

Pete Roon, Assistant
Superintendent of West Ottawa Schools, and Bill Strating of Chemtron Corp., showed a film on the proposed Area Vocational Center in the Ottawa
Intermediate School District.

This Center would be used by the juniors and seniors in 13
high schools in the county including Hamilton and Saugatuck
High Schools of Allegan County.

It will be of particular value to the student who is not college material or one who is financially unable to go on to college.
With some vocational training,
these students will be better able to get decent jobs with decent wages upon graduation
in many types of industries or professions.

At each meeting, a member gives a five-minute vocational talk on her particular job. Doris Diekema of De Nooyer Chevrolet told of her many duties in the De Nooyer office.

The business meeting was conducted by Verna Obenchain, president. Several guests were introduced including Mildred
Nelson, National ABWA Field
Director, Jo Anthony, president of the new Port City Chapter in Muskegon which Mrs. Nelson had just instituted. Also Dr.
Eleanor Klinefelter, D.S.C., Marsha Winter of DePree Com-

Expect Many At Hearing On Carousel

A public hearing Thursday on zoning changes requested to allow development of the Carousel Ski area is expected to draw a considerable number of persons as citizens groups mounted petition drives against the requested zoning variances.

The hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the public meeting room of the Carousel Ski Area Lodge. The hearing is held jointly by the Laketown Township Zoning Board and the Zoning Board of Appeals and is expected to be conducted by Zoning Board Chairman Howard Siebelink.

Carousel Recreational Equities, Inc., and its parent concern, COMCO of Chicago, seek special exceptions to the zoning ordinance to allow construction of cluster dwelling units with a density of 6.25 dwellings per acre and variances to allow commercial developments.

Developers propose 1,881
dwelling units on the 300-acre
site roughly north of Castle Park to Macatawa and west of 66th St. to Lake Michigan, including the present Carousel
Ski Area.

Residents have voiced concern over what affects possible
high concentrations of population in the year-around development could have on the health and welfare of the area.

Developers have said the project would be developed to meet demands and envisioned a limited number of permanently occupied dwellings.

Ferrer on Campus to Direct Musical 'Cyrano'

College Students In Whirl

'Company of 40' In Rehearsal For Musical Version

By Cornelia Van Voorst

Hope College is a busy, busy place these days.

Students are scurrying all over campus, but mostly in De Witt Cultural Center and the Wynand Wichers Music Building.

It's all because a new musical version of the 100-year-old classic Cyrano de Bergerac is in rehearsal for nine performances early in March.

And it is being directed by Jose Ferrer, noted actor-director whose name is synonymous with that of the stormy, flamboyant poet created a century ago by Rostand.

Ferrer has moved easily into his position as "artist in residence" at the college. It is the first time he has worked on a small campus and his main problem is coordinating rehearsals and the thousand and one details that goes into a new musical.

"I know students go to college to get an education, not to act in musicals," the 60-year-old Academy Award winner said. "So we must fit our rehearsals into whatever time we can. Mornings are out, and that leaves afternoons and evenings, and together with other busy schedules, some days we can rehearse only 30 minutes a day."

Ferrer works closely with the music-lyric composer team of Robert Wright and George Forrest who have been composing 18 or more songs for the production, and with Don Finn and John Tammi of the drama department and Roger Davis, Bob Cecil and Carroll Lehman of the music department. And lots of others.

How did Ferrer come to be in Holland?

Hope College had scheduled a traditional version of Cyrano de Bergerac for its March drama production and was searching for a star. Many names came up and finally Jose Ferrer. Why not the best?

Ferrer was in Florida at the time, and Don Finn put through a call. The contact was Mrs.

Robert Linn of Holland who has relatives in Florida who are friends of Ferrer.

Ferrer was really interested, but not in being the star. He had been working with Wright and Forrest on a musical version of Cyrano and would Hope College be interested in that?

It was a whole new ball game. An exciting one!

Ferrer flew to Holland, looked over the college's fine new theatre, the music department, other aspects. In fact, he made two or three visits.

In no time at all, all systems were go! Ferrer moved here for a month. Wright and Forrest came too, and then came the planning, the production work, rehearsals and dozens of other things.

Making Cyrano into a musical is not new. It has been done many times. Back in 1933 the St. Louis Opera Co. staged it as an opera. Right now, the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis, Minn., is presenting it as a musical — not the Wright-Forrest score, of course.

When Ferrer made the film which won him the Academy Award in 1950, all rehearsing and filming was done in four weeks — a back-breaking job as he remembers. Mala Powers was an unforgettable Roxanna.

In presenting Cyrano as a musical, Ferrer is working to reflect and enhance the Rostand classic through music, yet retaining the original feeling.

Fitting rehearsals into a busy college schedule has been the greatest problem, yet Ferrer's recognition of the fact that students are in college first and foremost to get an education is a strong, rallying point. Whereas the professional may address himself to the task at hand and spend 13 hours on end, Ferrer must be satisfied with bits and pieces.

The local production may be regarded as a world premiere. It is not known whether major critics will be present, but every effort is being made to make it an outstanding production.

To the Hollander, an Oscar is the apex of theatrical ambition, but Ferrer is even more proud of awards he won as best producer, best director and best performer — all in one play "The Shrike"—Broadway back in 1952.

"Cyrano" will be presented March 1 through 10, except Sunday, March 4. The original run has been expanded to nine performances.

Yes, the box office is open.

Behind the Scenes With 'Cyrano'

Audience reaction to the premiere of "Cyrano" will help determine whether the production will be offered professionally. Jose Ferrer believes that in order to survive the theatre must test its talents in America's heartland. He is enjoying his stay in Holland. "The theatre has to get out of New York," he says. "If you stay there too long, you stagnate."

Ferrer and the two composers, Robert Wright and George Forrest, are part of Hope College's artist in residence program begun four years ago. The program enables students to work directly with professionals in the various aspects of theatre. Besides working on productions' guest artists have served as lecturers to music and theatre classes.

Roger Davis, assistant professor of music, has arranged the "Cyrano" score for orchestration. Robert Cecil, associate professor of music, is conducting the 14-piece orchestra.

The impressive set for "Cyrano," a marvel of stairs, balcony and whatnot, was designed by Richard Smith, instructor in theatre, who also designed the costumes. Michael Grindstaff, also an instructor, is production stage manager and in charge of lighting design.

Ferrer is scheduled to appear briefly as narrator in the opening of "Cyrano." "It's a very minor role," he said.

That small gold piece Ferrer wears in his pierced left ear is a real curiosity piece. He doesn't really care to talk about it, but did say he had a woman friend who couldn't decide whether she wanted her ears pierced for earrings. He offered to have one ear pierced if she would get both ears pierced and stop talking about it. He did and she did.

A native of Puerto Rico and son of a prominent attorney, Ferrer never went hungry for his art. He majored in architecture at Princeton and was planning to go to Columbia for a master's degree in languages when he started to act. That was the end of any thought of teaching.

Ferrer was in Grand Rapids in 1944 playing Iago with Paul Robeson in "Othello." He remembers staying at the Pantlind and walking to the theatre — either the Powers or Midtown.

Languages came easy to Ferrer. He was a linguist from the start. "We spoke Spanish at home, we had a nurse who wouldn't speak anything but French and we spoke English at school."

Many Students, Faculty in Cast

The "company of 40" that will be on stage for the new musical "Cyrano" to be presented at nine performances in the theatre in De Witt Cultural Center early in March includes professionals, Hope College students and faculty members and a sprinkling of others.

Under the direction of Jose Ferrer who won an Oscar for his role in the 1952 film Cyrano de Bergerac, the cast is headed by two New York professionals, James Anthony who plays Cyrano, and Pamela McHardy as Roxanna. The role of Christian is played by William (Bill) Biedler of the music faculty of Grand Valley State College.

Among Hope faculty members, Joyce Morrison is playing Mother Marguerite; Robert Coughenour, Renaudot; John Tammi, Valvert; Robert Brown, Le Bret, and Donald Finn, De Guiche. Larry Gerkin of Grand Rapids is playing Montfleury and Mike Milanowski, a Hope student of Grand Rapids, Belenose.

Hope College students in roles are Cathy Schaub of Sarasota, Fla., as the foodseller - orange girl; Brad Williams of New York City, porter; Ken Aitchison of Elmore, N.Y., pickpocket; Paul Shoun of Bronson, Mich., beggar; Steve Britton of Niles, Marquis I; David Uekert of Grand Rapids, Marquis II.

Other students are David Leestma of Cypress, Calif., Sheppard I; Thomas Stuit of Grand Rapids, Shepherd II; Eric Bratt of Schenectady, N.Y., Bourgeois Gentleman I; David Buda of Wellston, Bourgeois Gentleman II; Virginia Agre of Wellston, Page I; Rosemary Nadolsky of Grand Rapids, Page II.

More students: Richard Cook of Rochester, N.Y., Townsman I; Steve Evans of Caledonia, Townsman II; Ross Bertran of South Portland, Me., Lackey; Rita Den Hartog of Holland, Lady I; Ann Withers of Broadview Heights, Ohio, Lady II; Cheri Chenoweth of Brighton, Lady III; Constance Moore of Hancock, N.Y., Lady IV.

Phyllis Accella of Colonia, N.J., is the Duenna; Susan Hermance of Schenectady, N.Y., is Sister Martha and Cynthia Bates of Muskegon is cast as Sister Claire. Nannette Olmsted of Coldwater is a nun.

Student dancers are Jerry Bevington of Niles, George Casarez of Muskegon and Richard Hoehler of Carteret, N.J.

Students appearing as cadets are Neil Bangs of Harrington Park, N.J., Roger Paxton of

Composers Call Jose Authority on Cyrano

Composers Robert Wright and George Forrest, who are turning out 18 or more songs for the musical version of Cyrano to be presented at Hope College in March, have been working together 44 years — ever since they were 14-year-old school boys.

And, once again, they are working closely with Jose Ferrer, a long-time friend who is directing the production.

In joint effort, the three aim to reflect and enhance the popular century-old poetic classic through music.

"We aim to extend the meaning, not to change it in any way," Forrest said. "We are taking a five-act play and changing it into a normal two-act musical with one intermission."

The composing team in their long and checkered career regard Ferrer as the world authority on Cyrano. "Jose has played Cyrano for 30 years and he knows every nuance, every thought in the play, and even in different languages. He speaks three fluently and knows several others," Forrest said. "He can cite the fine differences in interpretation in the different language versions. Whenever we are hung up on some subtle interpretation, Jose comes through. There hasn't been a Cyrano like that since Walter Hampden."

Both Forrest and Wright work on music and lyrics. In their long association, they have worked on 39 feature-length movies, 12 to 15 stage musicals and have united in producing and directing television shows, and producing, directing and writing night club shows and cabaret acts. They live in New York and Florida, but often spend just as much time in Europe or the west coast.

How did the musical version of Cyrano evolve?

About 2½ years ago Ferrer called Forrest in London (Wright happened to be in this country) and asked whether the Forrest-Wright team would write lyrics and music for the musical. Forrest became so excited about the idea that he committed the team without even consulting Wright.

It was okay with Wright and soon the two men were working on the exciting new project. And they were still working on minute details last week. Writing music for a musical is a long, involved project, working with soloists, choruses, the director, and trying out various versions.

"We haven't superimposed even one new idea on this all-time classic but have stuck as closely as possible to Rostand's original work or acceptable translations," Wright said. "We have eliminated the character of Rogero, the pastry cook, who really is not necessary to the plot."

Working together as a team is just about the most natural thing to Wright and Forrest. Each complements the other, and their togetherness at work is reminiscent of the old cartoon showing George F. Kaufman and Moss Hart at the typewriter, each with one hand on the keys. The team received the Tony award for their musical adaptation of "Kismet" and were nominated for an Academy Award for the song "Donkey Serenade" from the film "Firefly."

Will they have a hit song in the show, one that's easy to hum on leaving the theatre? It's hard to say. Hit songs are rarely recognized as such in the rush-rush of putting a show together.

Even "The Impossible Dream" from the "Man of La Mancha" wasn't named that in the show. Jose Ferrer who has played Don Quixote oftener than any other actor, suggested the title. It originally was named "The Quest."

The Wright-Forrest team excels at the operetta or light opera type of music, always aiming to retain the original feeling and wherever possible the poetic dialogue of Cyrano in the lyrics. Their music advances the story line...not the thrown-together production numbers that "interrupt" many a Broadway show.

As befits a musical, there will be some dancing, but not a great deal. Rich Rahn of Grand Rapids is the choreographer and Charles Buffham, also of Grand Rapids, is doing some of the musical ballet arrangements.

"Cyrano" is not a musical in the American tradition. It won't have lavish production numbers, and what numbers it does have adhere strictly to the tested and true Cyrano de Bergerac created by Rostand a century ago.

ROXANNA — Pamela McHardy of New York, who has studied in England and has appeared on national television in the United States in soap operas and commercials, will play Roxanna in the musical version of "Cyrano." Her stage appearance includes the role of Sarah in "Guys and Dolls" with Robert Alda.

CHRISTIAN—William (Bill) Biedler, associate professor of music at Grand Valley State College, will have the role of Christian in the musical "Cyrano." An outstanding folk singer, he has appeared before the Woman's Literary Club and the Century Club in Holland. He sang the lead in the Grand Rapids Civic Theatre musical "Celebration" two years ago and spent at least eight summers at the Interlochen Music Camp at Interlochen.

Zomermaand Leads Way With 29

ROCKFORD — Rockford's basketball team watched West Ottawa's machine-gun offense down the Rams, 93-76 here Friday night with one of the deadliest shooting exhibition's seen by Panther fans since the days of The Godfather.

Led by triggerman Con Zomermaand, Coach Jerry Kissman's gunners throw in 52 points in the first half and 41 more in the second half to capture their seventh win in 19 outings. Zomermaand ended with 29 points.

One of the voices of the Panthers, Neil Meinke's moves on the mike Friday compared to Tim Glupker's moves on the court.

Glupker, faking one way and going the other, followed the hot Zomermaand with 22 counters. The three other Panther starters, Joe Gaskill, Mark

Joe Gaskill
... helps beat Rockford

Miersma and Steve Hartman also reached double figures with 14, 13 and 11 respective totals.

"It was a great team win," said a happy Kissman, who is putting basketball back on the map at West Ottawa in his first year at the school. "Gaskill played his best game ever and the other guys were just great."

Reserve Coach Karl Von Ins, who has been associated with West Ottawa basketball for the past 12 years said the 52 points in the first half was the most ever scored by a Panther team that he could recall.

Rockford's biggest mistake of the night was making the first basket of the tilt. After that it was all downhill, as Kissman's cagers behind the scoring of Zomermaand and rebounding of Glupker took a 17-8 lead.

The Rams, who trailed throughout the game, never gave up, as they cut the Panthers margin to three points at the end of the period, 21-18.

Gaskill, one of the smallest players on the court went high in the air to tap in three straight buckets to give the Panthers a 44-28 advantage with two minutes left in the half.

It looked like a new Rockford team was on the court in the second half, as the Rams threw in 42 points compared to West Ottawa's 41. However, the damage was done and as Kissman said at the half, "all we have to do, is play them on even terms the rest of the way." The Panthers did and the end result was their fourth league win compared to nine setbacks. The Rams are 1-12 in the loop and 3-16 overall.

Guard Craig Zahrt paced the Rams scoring attack with 21 markers. Mark "The Bomb" Hubbard, one of the top scorers in the O-K Red Division threw in 17 points before fouling out with 3:11 left in the third quarter and West Ottawa enjoying a 66-47 bulge.

The Panthers ended the evening by netting 46 per cent of their shots (35-81) while the Rams were good for 45 per cent on (31-69) figures.

Glupker may still be floating high in the air today, as he constantly went high in orbit to snag down rebound after rebound for the Panthers, who dominated the backboards from both ends of the floor.

The Panthers will close out their regular season at home next Friday against Rogers.

West Ottawa's jayvees won a 65-54 game for Von Ins, who has said he will probably retire from coaching basketball at the conclusion of the season.

Randy Ollis paced the winners with 15 points while Doug Murdoch and Mark Visser had 14 apiece. Dan Scheerhorn followed with 10.

West Ottawa lost the freshman game to Rockford, 49-33. Mark Bosma was the lone Panther in double figures with 14 counters.

Maroons Turn In Poorest Show of Year

Holland Christian's basketball team had one of those nights Friday. After the first quarter the Maroons seemed to be able to do little right, the result being a 61-47 win for Grand Rapids Christian, in what was perhaps the poorest showing of the season for the Maroons.

Both teams were cold in the shooting department, as Christian made 22 of 70 shots for 31 per cent, and the Eagles weren't much better at 25 of 65 for 38 per cent. The only time Christian shot worse this season was in the season opener against Unity Christian, when they were 28 per cent.

The teams went a full two minutes before Terry Grassmid broke the scoring ice for Holland. The Eagles waited another 57 seconds before Bruce Dykstra made it 2-2. Jim Terpstra broke an 8-8 deadlock and the Maroons took off on a 15-9 lead. As time ran out ending the first quarter Scott Van Dyken crossed the center line near the sideline, and let one fly that swished through, making the score 15-11 in favor of Holland Christian.

That shot seemed to change the entire ball game, as the Maroons never got going the rest of the game. Van Dyken tied the score before Rick Klompmaker gave the Maroons the lead for the last time, 17-15 with 5:24 to go in the half. Klompmaker's two points were the only score Christian put on the board in the period, as the Eagles outscored the Maroons 17-2 in the quarter, for a half-time advantage of 28-17. Christian hit only one of 12 shots in the period for a freezing eight per cent.

Dan Vander Kodde, for Grand Rapids, tallied the first basket of the third quarter, making the score 30-17. This meant the Eagles outscored the Maroons 21-2 since the 15-9 Christian lead in the first quarter.

Four points each by Dave Tuls, Sid Bruinsma and Terpstra put Christian within five, 34-29, but that was as close as they came. The quarter score was 38-29.

Center Jim Holwerda, who led his team in scoring with 16 points, hit six consecutive free throws in the final period. The rest of the Eagles connected only five times in 14 tries during the game. The Hollanders had a mere five attempts at the charity stripe all night, and made three.

Dave Mulder did an outstanding job on the boards for the Eagles, hauling down 16 errant shots, in leading Grand Rapids Christian to a 42-37 edge in rebounds. Bruinsma and Chuck Visser each took down 11 for the Maroons.

Although not hitting with his usual accuracy, Bruinsma still led both teams in scoring with 18 points. Vander Kodde and Van Dyken gave Holwerda support with 11 and 10 counters respectively.

Christian, now with a 10-9 record, closes the regular season next Friday against Allegan in the Civic Center.

Grand Rapids also took the reserve game with an easy 70-41 win. Quarter scores were 15-6, 39-15 and 53-32, the Eagles leading all the way.

Bob Vander Hooning, of the Maroons, led with 16 points, while Dave Faber and Mark Hollemans scored 15 each for Grand Rapids.

Chix Snap Long Losing Streak

ZEELAND — It's been a long, cold season for the Zeeland basketball team, and head Coach Hal Cutshall but with just two games remaining on the schedule, the last two weeks could end on a much happier note, as the Chix were rewarded with a 78-66 victory over Hudsonville Friday night. The win snapped a 12-game losing streak.

Zeeland was reminded of its earlier contests in the year as they dropped down to a three point deficit as the first period drew to a close, with the score reading 20-17 in favor of Hudsonville.

The outraged Chix came storming back in the second quarter as they tallied for 21 points to give them a one point advantage over the Eagles as the half ended, with the score standing at 38-37.

Kurt Bennett led the Chix with 22 points for the night. Steve Bassett tallied for 20 points while John Dykema came up with 16 counters.

Craig Reister led the Hudsonville pack with 14 points, while Ken Westhuis followed up with 11 tallies.

In the third quarter the Eagles came out hungry; ready to devour the Chix as their main course, but Zeeland held them off as Hudsonville could only manage to come up 14 points, while Zeeland jumped out to a three point lead by racking up 16 points in the quarter, as the Chix led by a 54-51 margin at the end of the quarter.

With the fans hardly believing what was happening the Chix came out in the final period determined not to spoil their bid for the victory. Zeeland wound up scoring 24 points in the final quarter, while holding the Eagles to only 15 points, as the Chix outclassed the Eagles by a 78-66 margin.

Tuesday, the Chix will travel to Brighton in hopes of gaining their second victory in a row.

Larry Van Eenanaam led Zeeland's JV team to a 59-56 win over the Eagles as he scored 16 points. Dirk Pyle followed up with 12 counters.

Zeeland's freshmen squad won their 14th game of the season as they defeated Hudsonville by a 64-45 tilt. Gary Bazon led the Chix with 13 points.
